

(Download ebook) Captured by Desire (English Edition)

Captured by Desire (English Edition)

Von Kira Morgan

DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

Download

Read Online

Produktinformation -Verkaufsrang: #1234916 in eBooksVerffentlicht am: 2010-08-01Erscheinungsdatum:
2010-08-01File Name: B00FOT9670 | File size: 67.Mb

Von Kira Morgan : Captured by Desire (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Captured by Desire (English Edition):

KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich.
Terrific!Von Detra FitchSet in Spring, 1568, Scottish Lands. Florie Gilder is a respected apprentice of a goldsmith, who happens to be her foster father. Her precious crafts have often been for the Princess May herself. She is even well known to the queen. The only item Florie has left from her deceased mother is a golden pomander. This pomander is more than a trinket. It holds the secret to learning who her real father is. Florie only knows he is from Selkirk. Thus, Florie attends the Selkirk Fair. But due to a mix-up, Florie finds herself fleeing with her pomander as Lady Mavis Fraser begins exclaiming Florie to be a thief. Lady Mavis Fraser is the cruel wife of the sheriff of Selkirk, Lord Gilbert Fraser. Upon seeing the pomander, Lady Mavis knows her future is at stake. She must be rid of it quickly. The only way to be sure is for her to obtain the piece and melt it down. However, Florie has been granted sanctuary by Father Conan, the blind priest of a run-down church. Lady Mavis once held the status as the English Crown's most valuable spy. Unwilling to wait forty days (the terms of sanctuary), Lady Mavis begins using her connections and begins devising Florie's death. Rane MacAllister, Huntsman to Lord Gilbert, poaches in the sheriff's forest to feed the starving people. Accidently, Rane shoots an arrow into Florie's leg. Having the guilty feeling of shooting a lady is bad enough, but then the sheriff tasks his with guarding Florie and preventing her escape. As Rane tends Florie's wound, passions ignite. The enemy is at the door and it will take all they have simply to survive the next forty days. **** FOUR STARS! A tantalizing story of love set in an era filled with traitorous people. The characters are well developed and the author's talent shines on every page. I foresee a rewarding career in this author's future. ****Reviewed by Detra Fitch of Huntress Reviews.

Kurzbeschreibung Young Florie Gilder has always known that her biological father is a noble--her only evidence an heirloom gold belt. Living as a commoner, she earns her keep as apprentice-jewelry-designer in her foster-father's goldsmithing shop. Secretly hoping to find her real father, she offers to sell the goldsmith's wares in the town of her birth--at the Selkirk Fair. With her heirloom gold belt on display, she hopes it will be recognized by her real father. Leaving her booth at the Fair to take a moment's respite, Florie returns to find that a Lady Mavis Fraser of the Scottish court bought the gold belt (Mavis knows that her husband Lord Fraser would instantly recognize the belt as the link to the whereabouts of his illegitimate daughter whom he seeks to be reunited with, but such a reunion would foil Mavis's claim to her husband's estate). Florie, pursuing Lady Mavis, gives her back her money, wrests back the belt, and flees into the forest. Claiming Florie stole it from her, Mavis makes the authorities promise to find and execute Florie. Meanwhile, Rane MacAllister, a local hunter in the forest, mistakes the hiding Florie for a deer, wounding her with an arrow. He carries her to a local church where she will be guaranteed 40 days of sanctuary. When Lady Mavis hears the church has Florie, she commands Rane to guard her, but in the process he falls in love with her. Lady Mavis sets fire to the church, hoping to kill Florie, but Florie escapes. Rane's penalty for letting her escape will be death. At the eleventh hour, Florie returns, and must decide which she wants more--Rane's life, or her noble lineage... Pressestimmen Starred review from Publishers Weekly for Seduced by Destiny: "Morgan follows 2010's Captured by Desire with a delightful romance set in 16th-century Scotland.... Readers weary of Scottish romance cliches will be thrilled to see these cheeky commoners trading blows and puns far away from drafty castles." Publishers Weekly "A wonderful and rich tapestry of a novel." Bertrice Small, New York Times bestselling-author "A rich, sensual, pull-at-the-heartstrings romance." Monica McCarty, New York Times bestselling author "A finely crafted tale... a satisfying read." Jennifer Ashley, USA Today bestselling-author Raves for Captured by Desire: "...A seductive blend of romance, excitement, and intrigue with a dose of humor thrown in. With interesting characters that grab the reader's attention and a storyline that demands each page eagerly [be] turned, this is a must read for fans of historical romance. Robin Hood move over, Rane MacAllister is the new archer in town." Score: 4 out of 5 points! www.nightowlreviews.com "Highly dramatic and very exciting.... Loved the story" www.romancereviewsmag.com "Ever so sensual and emotional.... the story is solid and very romantic." yankeeromancereviewers.blogspot.com FIVE STARS ! "...An entertaining fast-paced sixteenth century historical romance.... Historical readers will enjoy this exciting twisting tale as love arrives when you least expect it." Harriet Klausner, barnesandnoble.com/Captured-by-Desire/Kira-Morgan "It takes a good writer to take the reader to a place and time and have them feel as if they are there with the characters, and Ms. Morgan does just that with ease and entertainment." The Reading er, www.marygramlich.com Rated "8" -- VERY GOOD! Heat Level: Rated "4" -- HOT ! www.TheSeasonForRomance.com Kurzbeschreibung Young Florie Gilder has always known that her biological father is a noble--her only evidence an heirloom gold belt. Living as a commoner, she earns her keep as apprentice-jewelry-designer in her foster-father's goldsmithing shop. Secretly hoping to find her real father, she offers to sell the goldsmith's wares in the town of her birth--at the Selkirk Fair. With her heirloom gold belt on display, she hopes it will be recognized by her real father. Leaving her booth at the Fair to take a moment's respite, Florie returns to find that a Lady Mavis Fraser of the Scottish court bought the gold belt (Mavis knows that her husband Lord Fraser would instantly recognize the belt as the link to the whereabouts of his illegitimate daughter whom he seeks to be reunited with, but such a reunion would foil Mavis's claim to her husband's estate). Florie, pursuing Lady Mavis, gives her back her money, wrests back the belt, and flees into the forest. Claiming Florie stole it from her, Mavis makes the authorities promise to find and execute Florie. Meanwhile, Rane MacAllister, a local hunter in the forest, mistakes the hiding Florie for a deer, wounding her with an arrow. He carries her to a local church where she will be guaranteed 40 days of sanctuary. When Lady Mavis hears the church has Florie, she commands Rane to guard her, but in the process he falls in love with her. Lady Mavis sets fire to the church, hoping to kill Florie, but Florie escapes. Rane's penalty for letting her escape will be death. At the eleventh hour, Florie returns, and must decide which she wants more--Rane's life, or her noble lineage...