Hilarious! Von Agi Abso - hmmmhmmhmm (the word most used in this book :))) - lutely hilarious! Just my type of book, my kind of humour, a lot of irony, cynicism, it must be read with a lot of distance to the heroes and to you yourself. I loved all of the characters but Michael of course, Fran's Michael, I didn't like him from the very beginning, he was like a little child, so insecure, so selfish, so full of shit (sorry). Fran was amazing, so prone to accidents, but so good and full of warmth, she would never do anything to hurt somebody. Well, she was like us, hello, who of us - being dumped - did not stalk her ex, ex - girlfriend, who did not cry over this for some weeks, who didn't hope to get back with him once? I guess all of us, maybe not to such extremes as Fran, but we just don't want to admit it :) Her friends were hilarious as well, although I have expected something more about Stefania's story. Duke Ellington - just amazing. It was all neatly ended, everything is clear and explained, no threads open and I like it a lot. Although there was a lot of swearing and drinking it just suits this book, it wouldn't be like this without all of this. It had me hooked from the very beginning, I was really curious what's going to happen, how it is going to end, and it was not as predictable as always. Waiting for the second Robinson's book. I didn't expect much of this book but just finished it and immediately filed it in my "very cool" selection on my Kindle. In short: The main character is very lovable, could be Bridget Jones' sister I thought at times. The story keeps you guessing and has some nice unexpected twists and turns, the happy ending is believable, and all of that delivered in very good writing. The only bit where I had to cringe a little was when the stalking got a bit out of hand. But this book still gets all 5 stars from me and I can only recommend it!

Kurzbeschreibung The Greatest Love Story of All Time is a laugh-out-loud debut novel from the Marie Claire blogger, Lucy Robinson. It's Fran's thirtieth birthday and things are good . . . She's bluffed her way into a Very Posh Job and her outlandishly handsome and talented boyfriend Michael is escorting her to the Ritz with a bulge the shape of a ring box in his pocket. But something has gone wrong. Very wrong. By the end of the evening Fran is howling in bed with a bottle of cheap brandy and one of Michael's old socks. In her quest to figure out why her life has suddenly gone down the pan, Fran comes up with a failsafe plan: live like a badger, stalk a stranger called Nellie and cancel her beloved Gin Thursdays in favour of drinking gin every night. But then Fran's friends force a very different plan on her and it's nowhere near as fun. How could eight dates possibly make her feel better? But eventually she agrees. And so begins the greatest love story of all time . . . Praise for Lucy Robinson: 'The new Marian Keyes . . . romantic and laugh-out-loud hilarious' Cosmopolitan 'An absolute must-read' Huffington Post 'Prepare for public-transport belly laughs' Glamour 'Refreshingly playful' Red Lucy Robinson is the author of The Greatest Love Story of All Time, A Passionate Love Affair with a Total Stranger and The Unfinished Symphony of You and Me. Lucy worked in theatre and then television documentaries before starting a blog for Marie Claire about her laughably unsuccessful foray into the world of online dating. She did not meet a man during this time but she did become a novelist: every cloud has a silver lining. She now lives in Bristol with her partner, The Man, whom she met when she took off to Buenos Aires to become a bohemian writer in 2010. Twitter: @Lucy_Robinson Facebook:
